To IAPA on the occasion of its 90th Anniversary

This message brings our heartfelt congratulations to the 90th anniversary of IAPA from the Finnish Institute of Occupational Health. For several years it has been a privilege for us to be in a position to collaborate with IAPA in several areas. The cooperation has been active, for instance, on the topic of accident prevention and more broadly in the development of working conditions worldwide.

The many meetings organized in the previous years as well as the participation in the preparation of joint publications and several other joint activities have provided an excellent opportunity for our experts and co-workers to meet and get acquainted with the activities in our respective institutions. This long-term collaboration has also opened new avenues for further collaboration and networking within the WHO Collaborating Centres' Network activities.

The ideas for transmitting research knowledge into the everyday practices of work life have always been a key element in our mutual interests. In this field, too, we have had a lot to learn from IAPA.

We would like to take this opportunity to warmly thank IAPA and its leadership and experts for all the collaborative activities and learning opportunities they have given us during the years. At the same time we would like to wish every success for the future activities and look forward to continue as a part of IAPA's Network also in the future.

With best wishes,

Harri Vainio, Professor, MD, PhD
Director General
